With F.M.L.

The day is all but here when Milam County no longer will be sending out its primary commodity, youth. We are going to attract youth, contrary to the pattern of youthful egress for 50 years. The time is past when we tilled the Milam countryside and resided in the communities and urged our young people to go elsewhere for a future. All the activity of the Milam area assures there is some future here for young people, college trained, technically trained.

The value is shown that we think more of people and their development here than the number of cattle in a herd or the number of acres we till somewhere outside the city limits.

There is more to life than quantity. There is also quality and Cameron and Milam County are proving it.

There is a 40-year-old colonel quitting the Army because he thinks its "middle-management" or field grade officers were "punching the right tickets" for career advancement on combat tours in Vietnam.

This is the interesting observation of Army Col. David H. Hackworth, said to be one of the most decorated officers of the complex Vietnam involvement. He goes further and says the Vietnam war could have been won with half a million men, unlimited financing and national support in 1965-68.

He praises GIs and middle - rank American officers, according to AP. Saigon. Much the individual, Col. Hackworth joined the Army underage at 15 and rose to colonelcy at such a rate he was undoubtedly going into the ranks of general.

He rejects the idea the "political war" restrictions eliminated victory. He says "misuse of assets" in brigade-type "search and destroy" missions failed. He says only about 40,000 men "were in the bush" when half a million were in Vietnam.

How well the Colonel's criticism and resignation in disgust ring back to the peacetime army after Korea was over. Career implications are more of concern to a peace time army than war. The game is not quite so important. Career survival is.

It would seem the bureaucratic tendencies of the rest of Western Man have arrived in the military.

AP quotes Hackworth further: "We should have come with real professionals, absolute studs, who would stay until the thing is over, all volunteers."

And: "You always came in there with such tremendous firepower, such tremendous preparation that by the time you located and were ready to meet the enemy, he was gone."

112-112-112

How well I remember in personal experience whole battalions in the post-Korean Army being run by lieutenants on difficult maneuvers, tests including atomic testing at Camp Desert Rock and Dept. of Army testing with Signal Corps at Fort Huachuca, Arizona. Our battalion S-3 or operations officer in those days when batteries were scattered all over the Southwest and West was a first lieutenant with a battle field commission earned in Korea. The job called for a major. The battery commanders were first and second lieutenants as were their executive officers.

The Army, according to Col. Hackworth, seems to have changed little in the field grade ranks. He notes there are, or were, 30,000 jeeps in the field in South Vietnam and every captain and above has "two, four, five flunkies, houseboys."

I have talked to enlisted men who found some of the officers in Vietnam not up to what was expected in later years of the Viet decade. Fraggings of company and platoon officers and non-commissioned officers has become quite a problem.

Says Hackworth: "So why has the Army gone to hell? Because the higher level leaders couldn't recognize the problem until it was too late. These kids, all they wanted was leadership."

The Colonel well may be right. I wasn't in this one.

I was a 23-year-old battery commander. And it was amazing what came to us sometime from battalion level officers. Interestingly enough, it was lieutenants who took the batteries on 1,000-mile motor marches to Dept. of Army functions and not the field-grade staff.

I might not have made colonel or even captain in the Army. But as long as men like Hackworth have the stuff to make it and then walk away from it - for the right reasons - none of us has to worry too much about things ultimately straightening out.

SBA PLANS MEETING FOR BUSINESSMEN

The Small Business Administration will hold a meeting July 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the Milam County District Courtroom to provide small business men information on the SBA loan program.

This loan program, the Economic Injury Disaster Loan Program, is aimed at assisting small businesses injured as a result of curtailed business with farmers and ranchers due to drought.

Primarily, the program is designed to help small businesses with working capital problems and to pay financial obligations, with the exception of short-term bank loans.

Officials from the Houston District Small Business Administration recently visited Milam County to determine the effects on small business activity as a result of the prolonged drought.

According to Houston District Director, Donald D. Grose, most small businesses in rural communities also suffer when farmers and ranchers are faced with drought problems.

Weather Notes

The 66 of an inch of rain that fell this week was welcomed by grain and cotton producers, and to cattlemen whose pastures were again burning up.

Herald Survey Lets Readers Rate Community

What do you think of the community in which you live? How would you rate services such as postal or medical services? How would you rate your schools?

Readers of The Herald have a chance to assess their community in a survey this week on page 2.

The survey covers 60 items, with space for judging as excellent, good, average, below average, poor, and no response.

There is also space for answering the question -- "in your opinion, what are the five most important things which need to be done to make this a better community?"

Readers are invited to fill out the questionnaire and mail it to The Cameron Herald. Results will be tabulated and released in the Herald.

Social Security Rolls Increasing In County

Just released records show that 4,220 residents of Milam County are being paid $361,900 a month in social security benefits. Jack Calvert, district manager of the Temple social security office, said today.

This amount includes the ten percent increase in benefits recently passed by Congress and signed into law by President Nixon on March 17.

The number of social security beneficiaries represents 21.1 percent of the total population of Milam County. Total yearly benefits paid to these eligible persons amounts to $4,342,800, Calvert added.

These figures are higher than the 1971 totals, when 4,130 persons received benefits totaling $3,767,400 for the year.

Of these social security beneficiaries living in Milam County, 2,045 are retired workers; 197 are disabled workers; 973 are dependents of retired or disabled workers; 938 are survivors of workers who have died; and 67 are receiving the special age 72 benefit.

In the United States, there are 26,228,629 persons receiving $2,628,327,796 in benefits every month. In Texas 1,279,977 beneficiaries are being paid at the rate of $114,526,427 monthly.

In the six Central Texas counties serviced by the Temple social security district office - Bell, Coryell, Hamilton, Lampasas, Milam, and San Saba - there are 23,736 persons collecting $2,124,100 every month for a yearly total of $25,489,200.

Of the six counties included in the district Bell county at 8.7 percent has the lowest percentage of population receiving monthly benefits for a total of $11,946,000 yearly.

Hamilton, with 29.5 percent receiving monthly benefits, has the largest percentage. Some 2,121 out of a population of 7,198 receive monthly benefits.

Coryell with a population of 35,311 has 3,164 persons receiving benefits for a yearly total of 3,352,800. Lampasas has 21.3 percent of its 9,323 population receiving monthly benefits for a yearly total of 2,112,000.

And 1,375 persons of 24.8 percent of the 5,540 population receives monthly benefits.

For Livestock Producers
USDA Extends Relief

Due to continued drought conditions in Milam County, the Secretary of Agriculture has extended the emergency Livestock Feed and Hay Transportation Assistance programs.

The extended prescribed period will terminate not later than September 30, 1971, according to a news release from the Milam County ASCS office.

The emergency Livestock Feed Program includes reduced-price grain and hay transportation assistance and is to be made available only to those eligible livestock owners who furnish a financial statement and meet certain requirements.

A financial statement will not be required if the applicant previously submitted one under the current program and provided that his financial condition has not substantially changed since that time.

An extension has also been granted to Milam County farmers for Seasonal Grazing and Haying of program set-aside acreage and (CAP) Cropland Adjustment Program Acreages to September 30, 1971.

There will be no charge assessed for grazing and haying set-aside or CAP acreage, but those who wish to use this acreage should file a request at the ASCS Office.

Anyone having questions concerning the use of set-aside and CAP acreages or the Livestock Feed Program should contact the Milam County ASCS Office for more information.

Police Investigate Warehouse Breakin

City and county law officials are investigating the weekend break-in at Falstaff Distributing Co. warehouse on East First Street.

Entrance was gained by forcing a lock on the door in the lower part of the warehouse. The thieves then used a ladder in an old lift shaft and forced their way through the warehouse floor.

A screened office window was forced open and the thieves used a pinchbar, hammer and chisels in an attempt to open the safe.

Police Chief Felipe Martinez, investigating officer, said extensive damage was done to the safe, but it was not opened. There was no money in the safe.

The thief or thieves had also packed a ditto machine, a radio, typewriter, and adding machine in boxes, but apparently they were frightened and left the items in the office.

In other police news, officers investigated a fight Saturday night on South Jefferson in front of Elmo's Place. Three men were involved.

Donald Ray Wilcox was charged with simple assault and Charles Hights Jr. was charged with affray. Chief Martinez said it is undetermined whether the third man will be charged or not.

And Police Sgt. Truman White arrested a deserter from the Army Friday on a tip from the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The man was turned over to military authorities.

Travis Homecoming

Commissioners Due Foster Home Request

A young girl was molested by a relative at her home in Milam County. The police report was not a surprise to social workers who had been aware of an unhealthy atmosphere for more than a year, but because no foster home program was available welfare authorities had no place to move the children.

This will be one of several actual cases presented to Milam County Commissioners in July by Roy Boutwell, area supervisor for the Dept. of Welfare, when he requests county support for a foster home program.

Boutwell said in an interview this week that 13 cases of child abuse or neglect are presently under investigation in Milam County.

"If we had a foster home program in Milam County at least 6 of these children would have been removed from their home atmosphere," Boutwell said. He said the Welfare Dept. makes every attempt to improve the home conditions before considering moving a child.

"But it isn't always possible to improve the home. When the emotional or physical wellbeing of a child is in danger we need to have the alternative of approved foster homes."

He said he will ask county commissioners to include a foster home program in

Kubiak Applauds Governor's Action

State Rep. Dan Kubiak of Falls, Milam and Robertson Counties today commended the Governor in vetoing the second year of the controversial Appropriations bill.

"I feel that the Governor has taken responsible action in vetoing the second year of what I consider wasteful pork barrel spending," Kubiak stated.

"The total Appropriations bill called for $7.7 million in new spending for the biennium. I only regret that the Governor did not veto the first year since it, too, contained a great deal of non-essential spending."

In commenting further, Kubiak said, "This matter very strongly indicates that we in Texas need annual sessions. It very clearly indicates that Texas, which has the same magnitude of problems as the Federal government, cannot operate as it did during the horse and buggy days. This type of operation breeds inefficiency, inequity and wasteful pork barrel spending."

FUNDS FOR BALLPARK - Bernay Dusek, Noon Lions president, left presents check for $200 to Bill Hornung, president of the Little League Association. The funds will be used to build new ballfields near Cameron Airpark. Donations are being accepted for the two new fields, expected to cost about $15,000.

REVENUE SHARING: A 'HOT POTATO'

REP. JOHN A. ANDERSON (Ill.) "... The House Ways and Means Committee began a series of hearings... which may well be the most important held during this session of Congress. The fiscal crisis that threatens our States and cities deepens with each passing day. Unless we act soon, we are likely to find our federal system in a State of collapse and disarray from which it may never recover.

"It is therefore imperative that the Congress be given the opportunity to act on the administration's general revenue sharing proposal in the near future.

"There are those who have already consigned revenue sharing to the dust bin, there are those who would make this a partisan issue, there are those who believe that because the distinguished chairman of the Ways and Means Committee has announced opposition to the idea, that no legislation is likely to be forthcoming...

"Senator Baker the administration's spokesman in the Senate... noted--'The most remarkable thing about the three bills -- the ADMINIS-TRATION BILL, the MUSKIE

BILL and the HUMPHREY-REUSE BILL -- is their striking similarity. Although there are significant and important differences, to be sure, the similarities are so great as to make prospects for ultimate compromise, in my judgment, very bright'..."

(Excerpt from a statement by The Hon. John B. Connally, Secretary of the Treasury, before the Committee on Ways and Means, U.S. House of Representatives, Wednesday, June 2, 1971.) "Some express doubts about the integrity and capacity of State and local officials.

"I do not share that belief.
The closer officials are to the people the more responsive they are to the people. Furthermore, there will be great competition between the various sections of local government for the revenue sharing dollar. The revenue sharing dollar and those who spend it will be scrutinized very carefully..."

"The details were carefully worked out with knowledgeable representatives of Federal, state and local governments, with private citizens, and with Democrats, Republicans, and Independents. In both concept and detail, I believe that you will find it truly a carefully thought through and non-partisan plan offered in good faith..."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

It's possible some form of revenue sharing by the Federal Government with States, cities and local governments will be forthcoming in view of support by Democrats, Republicans and Independents.

However, the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee (Wilbur Mills, Ark.) is a formidable opponent of ANY revenue sharing plan.

County Agent's Notes

Sanitary Landfill To Be Discussed

By J. D. Moore

Sanitary land fills will be discussed at a meeting to be held at the Church at Salty at 7:30 p. m., June 25, according to Mark Towery and Dalton Caffey, community leaders. A question and answer period will follow the showing of a set of educational slides to be presented by the county Extension agents.

This meeting is sponsored by the county Rural Development Committee which is made up of representatives of various agencies, organizations, and community leaders from all the communities of Milam County. All community leaders are urged to attend. The press, radio and public are invited.

In the past, the expression was, "make a mess and move west," says Jack Jones, Rural Development Specialist at A&M. But now with fifty states occupied from sea to shining sea, public officials are faced with the necessity of convincing their citizens that solid waste is an urgent and expensive problem from which people can no longer run.

Solid waste is not a new problem. It was called refuse, garbage, trash, or rubbish. The city dump ground was somewhat of a local institution. But things have changed. We have more people, greater concentrations of population, much more waste and fewer places to put it.

Sanitary landfills are recommended because at this time it is the most economical and satisfactory disposal method. Too many people think that sanitary landfill simply means to dig a hole, throw in the refuse and cover it up. This is not enough.

Carefully select the landfill site, giving consideration to soil conditions, ground water table, geology, topography, access roads, haul distance and surrounding land uses.

In other words, much goes into obtaining, planning and the proper operation of landfill. A new bulletin is available at the county Extension office, MP-989, Solid Waste.

The Milam County Rural Development Committee is available and ready to assist any community with a program to discuss local landfills.

Ranchers Should Consider Protein Feeding In Drouth

COLLEGE STATION

Where drought conditions have severely reduced the amount of forage available, ranchers may need to take a second look at nutritional programs to avoid protein deficiencies in their livestock.

Inadequate protein in a cow's ration can cause reduced forage consumption and reduced availability of all nutrients to the animal -- a serious problem under normal conditions, but especially so under drought conditions.

Decisions on feeding grain and oil seed mixtures, using urea as an alternative for protein, and limiting feed consumption face the rancher.

Several oil seed protein meals such as cottonseed, guar, peanut, soybean, and linseed, when equal in percentage of crude protein, can provide about the same feeding value in cattle maintenance feeding. L. A. Maddox, Jr., Extension beef cattle specialist explains.

Most oil seeds have 80 percent digestible protein compared to about 50 percent in dry roughages. Mixtures of different meals would have no advantage over a single protein source because the ruminants balance dietary protein through ruminal amino acid synthesis.

Ranchers need to keep in mind labor and equipment costs when deciding on what form of protein supplement to feed.

Some stockmen may consider using urea in their protein feeding as another means of lowering costs. The nitrogenous compound can be converted to protein in the presence of sufficient carbohydrates by bacterial action in the rumen.

Maddox reminds ranchers that urea contains no energy and that the feed grade or fertilizer grade should be fed. Mixtures containing urea should be thoroughly mixed with molasses and ground grain, and the grain to urea ratio may be no less than eight pounds grain to one pound urea.

SCS News

"Ten years ago this ground was as bare as that road," said L. R. Knight as he was standing in a lush, tall, excellent stand of Little Bluestem.

How this came about was no accident. Through brush control, proper stocking rates and deferred grazing, Knight was able to take a pasture that was worthless as far as livestock was concerned to one that is beginning to reach its full potential as rangeland.

Knight gives the pasture a three-month rest each fall. The three-month deferment increases the natural vigor of the grasses, allows desirable grasses to seed, improves hydrologic conditions, reduces erosion and siltation, and provides a food reserve for late fall, winter and early spring grazing and emergency use.

The dormant vegetation according to Knight "is like money in the bank." His livestock can graze on the cured grass in the winter eliminating costly supplemental feeding.

Knight agreed the reason deferring his pastures has shown such outstanding results was that his range is not overstocked. Knight keeps his stocking rate adjusted so that he seldom takes more than half the annual growth by weight of his grasses.

For more information on deferred grazing contact your local Soil and Water Conservation Service.

THE RIGHT STAGE

Delaying the cutting of hay will result in increased tonnage, but it will lower the quality, remind agronomists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Most of the increased tonnage is in the form of stalk and fiber. Cutting hay at the right stage gives the highest production of total digestible nutrients (TDN).

Four months of picnic food is no picnic.

Get central gas air conditioning and bring back meat and potatoes.

Some days you wouldn't even boil an egg. Let alone cook a meal. But with central gas cooling you can cook a banquet. Without heating up your home.

With central gas air conditioning, it only costs a little to add a lot to your living.

First of all, you'll save in installation costs. Because you just add a cooling unit to your existing central gas heating system. But that's just part of the savings. Gas costs less to use than electricity. And we give you a special low rate for central gas air conditioning during those sweltering summer months. When you need central air cooling the most.

So go ahead. Have central gas cooling installed. And save the picnic food for the great outdoors.

Luncheon, Matinee In League Project Plans

The Arts and Service League project committee met last week to outline plans for the 1971-72 season. Committee members met at the home of Mrs. Bernay Dusek, League president. Mrs. Ed Magre is project committee chairman.

Plans approved for the coming year include a newcomers coffee, children's matinee movies, a women's luncheon with a special guest speaker and a special historic display at the 1972 Folk Fete.

Mrs. Charles Chandler was named chairman of the matinee movies which will be scheduled from early fall through April.

The children's movies, a popular project sponsored by Arts and Service League last year, will be held monthly on Saturday afternoons at the Methodist Fellowship Hall. League members purchased a theater screen in April which is permanently installed at the Fellowship Hall.

Movies are selected to appeal to children in elementary school age. Each movie is a full-length feature and many are in color. A minimum admission is charged (25 cents) to cover part of the film rental cost.

Last year attendance at the movies average 150 children.

The Newcomers Coffee has been scheduled in October and the women's luncheon will be held in early spring with admission open to the public.

New Books Available At Cameron Library

MARIA THERESA, by Edward Crankshaw; In "The Fall of the House of Habsburg" Crankshaw dealt with the final century of the longest-reigning dynasty in Europe. In this new biography he has returned to this story at an earlier critical period, beginning in 1740, in order to give us a heroic picture of the only woman to rule the Habsburg lands.

THE DRIFTERS by James A. Michener; The scene of Michener's new novel is vast, its characters and actions 'now'. Six major characters are thrown together by chance in the wide-open Spanish resort town Torremolinos. They shun the life styles and values of the past and are pulled toward the mad orbit of expatriates and drop-outs, of drugs and rock music.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE RAINBOW (With Judy Garland On the Dawn Patrol) by Mel Tormé; More than an exciting chronicle of an incredible theater experience. This is also a warm, objective portrait of a great singer and actress at the time of her last important moments of triumph.

THE BRONTES AND THEIR WORLD by Phyllis Bentley; The Bronte sisters not only have an important place in English literature; they have become part of English folk-lore as well. Dr. Bentley brings great understanding and a lifetime knowledge of the bleak country of the Brontes to this new biography.

WHISTLE AND I'LL COME TO YOU by Agnes Sligh Turnbull; For many readers weary of being too much 'with it', Agnes Sligh Turnbull here provides a delightful escape 'out of it'. The setting is the very small town of Callaway. The time is the turn of the century, an era of parasols and trolley cars, of summer evenings on the porch and Christmas sleigh rides.

BY THE POLITICAL SEA by Katie Loucheim; The author has been swimming as Vice Chairman in the political waters of the Democratic Party and official Washington since 1948, and this personal and political memoir is filled with warm memories and revealing anecdotes about the great men and events of those years.

BURY MY HEART AT WOUNDED KNEE by Dee Brown; A documented account of the systematic plunder of the American Indians during the second half of the 19th century; battle by battle, massacre by massacre, broken treaty by broken treaty. Here for the first time is their side of the story.

LONESOME CITIES by Rod McKuen; The newest collection of love poems and lyrics by the American chansonnier Rod McKuen. It is divided into several sections and details a man's journey around the world in an attempt to find himself.

Doves Need A Suitcase

The San Angelo regional office of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department receives telephone calls everyday from persons wondering why mourning doves are nesting so early.

In reality it isn't early at all, according to biologists.

Biologists say mourning doves nest in Texas all year round. In fact, there isn't a month in the year that doesn't account for nesting doves somewhere in the state, depending upon habitat and weather, according to biologists.

One dove banded in North Texas in Archer County was taken by a hunter in Desconocido, Mexico, and five birds banded in Texas were found at extremes in Mexico. Eleven other birds banded by Texas game management officers were found in Oklahoma, Kansas and Iowa, and one strayed over into Mississippi.

Estimates place the mourning dove harvest in the United States at about 25 million birds, approximately half of which are killed in Texas.

Be on the LOOKOUT

Many times throughout history, government power was equally divided between three men. This triumvirate system was better in theory than practice; because motives developed and the three were reduced to one, or none.

There is another triumvirate: Me, Myself, and I. And as with all other threesomes, conflict begins. Only, somehow, internal struggles are harder to fight than external ones. Internal struggles turn us into ourselves and shut us off from outside ones. They blind and restrict us and limit our ability to LOOKOUT.

We don't like being shut off, alone, but we can't really LOOKOUT and help others until we can see and help ourselves. What a pity that we don't bring internal peace by turning from ourselves and reaching out to help others. For in giving, we are getting. And in helping we are being helped.

We need to LOOKOUT beyond ourselves to the distant horizon; into the sunrise of companionship and the sunset of shared love.

We must look out, instead of looking in, if we are to help others. We need to be on the LOOKOUT.
